Injured Worker Entitled to Mandamus Relief from Denial of Temporary Total Disability

The Tenth District Court of Appeals has held that, where some evidence existed to support the claimant's knee strain as related to a fall at work in the snow, contradictory evidence did not override the supporting evidence for the claim. Mandamus was therefore granted in relief of the Industrial Commission's denial of TTD. State ex rel. George v. Indust. Comm. of Ohio, 2011-Ohio-2807, 10th Dist. No. 10AP-310.

Med Pay Class Action Goes Forward

Where an auto insurer systematically underpaid medical payment claims in contradiction to its policy, the Fifth District has held that a class action may proceed under the requirements of Civ. R. 23. Wolfe v. Grange Indem. Ins. Co., 2011-Ohio-6122, 5th Dist. No. 2010CA00339.
